Annunciation BVM and St. Hilary Parishes are a community of Catholics under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. We proclaim the Good News of Jesus Christ through worship, service and fellowship, in cooperation with the Bishop of Thunder Bay, in order to bring forth the values of the Kingdom of God.

Set at the heart of the Last Supper discourse, this passage restates, yet again, the new commandment of love, and establishes the nature of the bond between those celebrating the Eucharist in Johnnie communities: they can be seen as friends of the Word. The intimacy implied in friendship in the ancient world is something that is lost on us today, but it was used to describe the highest level of human intimacy.

“Spiritual poverty clings to nothing and nothing clings to it.“ Lord, forgive us that we are so busy when we come into your presence. We have to tell you all our needs in case you might forget some of them. We make many resolutions in case you don't think well of us. We are anxious to get some teaching from you that will keep us faithful to your will. We thank you for the times when you invited us just to be quiet and remain in your love, your permanent unconditional love, the kind you had from your Father.

“Prayer is not meant to change the world. It is meant to change us so that we will then change the world.” We thank you for Jesus and those who follow his style, who look on their followers as friends and make known to them their dreams for themselves and for the world. Only they can bring about true community. Lord, we thank you for the joy of married love, when you don't have to prove yourself or try to be different but can just relax in someone's love. Truly that is a joy that is complete. “Be men and women of the world but not worldly men and women.”

We celebrate St Joseph the Worker, never forgetting that work is a fundamental aspect of human dignity. Today, at the Sanctuary of Our Lady of Divine Love, as we recite the Rosary, we pray especially for peace in Syria... The Lord Jesus communicates His love for us, so that we can love God and our neighbour as He has loved us, by giving His life for us. Joyfully performing works of charity for those who are suffering in mind and body, is the most authentic way to live the Gospel. Be one with Christ when you pray, take care of your most vulnerable brothers and sisters, and work for peace.

Thanks all who participated in Spring tea.

Jesus does a very interesting thing then. He says, “As the Father has loved me, so I have loved you.” This is telling us that we give ourselves to others in the same way that others have given themselves to us. This is very true, isn't it? Once we love others we find that we can share with them the truth of who we really are. It invites us to move in a new direction, as Jesus makes the connection between “keeping commandments” and “remaining in his love”. This is telling us something important about “commandments”. In this passage they do not refer to a series of obligations. They are rather a general commandment to accept what the other person is doing for us. Keeping his Father's commandments means simply that Jesus can remain calm within the awareness of his Father's love. This is a new development again. All love produces joy. It is like an unnamed corollary of giving one's life to others. If our love doesn't produce joy, it can't be right. We have to add something to it which we may have neglected. “This is my commandment, love one another as I have loved you”. The Christian commandment to love is based on Jesus' love for us. We love not merely from ourselves but because the love of Christ has taken charge of us. Jesus then goes on to make the connection between love and the relationship between friends. He goes to the heart of what being a friend is all about. It means seeing another in the light of our experience. “A servant does not know his master's business, but I have made known to you everything I learnt from my Father.” Let us spend some time with these imposing words. We take what we can from them and then let them take charge of us. “You did not choose me, no I chose you”. This is so important.

Bible Study will be starting on Monday at Roma Dupuis house at 4 Riverview St. from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. We will be discussing Mathew Kelly's new book “Perfectly Yourself. Please pick up a copy at the back of the church and come out for some great discussion and fellowship. Everyone is welcome!
